1. Scope of the Document

The Pricing BSDD is designed to provide the team with a comprehensive understanding of how various factors will be utilized to determine pricing within the system. This document outlines the key components and processes that contribute to the pricing model, offering clarity on the rules and guidelines that will govern how scheme are selected.

Additionally, the BSDD includes details about the campaign setup feature, which enables users to define and manage campaigns within the system. These campaigns can play a crucial role as one of the factors in the pricing scheme setup, allowing for dynamic pricing adjustments based on the specific campaign parameters.

Within the scheme setup, a range of parameters will be available to be configured. These parameters will guide how pricing is applied, ensuring that the pricing strategy aligns with business goals and market conditions. The system will allow users to customize these parameters, offering flexibility and control in how pricing is structured across different campaigns, customer segments, or other criteria.

6. Assumptions

- The system will enable the authorized TA users to set up the Pricing Schemes using the combination of factors available within the system. These factors will include all the factors where the data type is LoVs (open/ free text fields cannot be used in the pricing setup) or numeric in nature and are a part of the financing application.
- In case there are multiple pricing schemes applicable, the system will pick the lowest rate for the RPS and offering.
- The system should have the capability to activate or deactivate any of the schemes. In case the scheme is deactivated, it will not be used in any of the financing request.
- System will also allow the user to setup Campaigns with basic set of parameters, and the campaigns will be used as one of the factors in setting up the pricing rules.
- TA will also set up a default pricing scheme for each product, which will only be triggered if none of the configured scheme is applicable. This is to eliminate the probability of error.

7. Pricing Framework Solution

A framework will be created to define multiple pricing parameters as outlined in section 4.3 of this document. Users will have the option to configure schemes based on different combinations of these parameters. The key features of the pricing framework are as follows:

- Product, Sub-Product, Start Date, and Expiry Date are required for configuring any scheme.
- The scheme status (Active/Inactive) will be managed based on the expiry date. However, admin user can also mark scheme status Active/Inactive if required.
- An API will be provided to the LOS, triggering certain attributes/parameters to transact. The transact will match parameters across multiple schemes and return results from the scheme with the highest matching parameter values.
- In the case of multiple applicable pricing schemes, the system will select the lowest rate for the RPS and offering.
- Campaign can also be defined as one of the parameters within a scheme.
- As mentioned in section 4.2, Campaign Setup will include the configuration of the campaign start and end dates, as well as its status (Active/Inactive).
- Multiple campaigns can be configured within a single scheme.
- If only one campaign is configured within a scheme and it expires or becomes inactive, the entire scheme will be considered expired or inactive. However, if multiple campaigns are configured within a single scheme and one campaign expires or becomes inactive, the scheme will remain active for the remaining campaigns that are still valid.
- After configuring the parameters for a scheme and authorizing the record, a scheme will be generated with the selected parameters. The record ID will include the Product, Sub-Product, Date, and Serial Number.
- A default pricing scheme will also set up for each product, which will only be triggered if none of the configured scheme is applicable. This is to eliminate the probability of error.
- Scheme maintenance option will be available and history file should be maintained
- Option to include new field in master template is available

Mock screen of Pricing Framework, Published / Generated Scheme and Campaign is attached below, however there might be some changes based on technical development.
